PERU, June 3 .- [Special.] -- John F. Larimer was elected county superintendent of public schools this afternoon. W. A. Woodring, the present incumbent, expected re-election to a second term, but much to the surprise of himwelf and friends his name was not even annonnced. The trustees are evenly divided politically, there being seven republicans and seven democrats. As the auditor is a republican, and having the deciding vote in case of a tie, there was no possible chance for a democrat. The affair created considerable unfavorsble comment, and has caused much dissatisfaction in the republican ranks, because of Woodring's defeat. He made a very acceptable

Fort Wayne Has Many Sensations.

FORT WAYNE, May 28 .- [Special.]-A wellplanned jail-delivery was frustrated this morning by Sheriff Vibers, who discovered, in a basket which the wife of George Merz had chamber loaded. The woman claimed that she had brought only some delicacies for her h us band. Mers is a desperate character, and is known to have served at least one term in the penitentiary. The sheriff examined his cell and found a cord hanging down into the watercloset. He pulled the cord up, and at the end found saws, the hair-spring of a watch with teeth filed in it, three small files and a chisel. The jail contains many desperate characters. Merz will go to prison for a long stretch for attempted murder, and half a dozen others will be railroaded for crimes. On the night of May 19, Samuel Dromley, a driver for a coal dealer, was so severely shot through the groin by David A. Burnie, a railroad brakeman, that his death is now expected. Burnie claimed to have come in unexpectedly from his run and to have discovered Dromley in his bed chamber. This afternoon Mrs. Burnie began a suit for divorce, charging that her husband had on frequent occasions threatened to shoot her and has been insanely jealous. Burnie is in jail and now admits that he supposed that Dromley was a burglar when he shot him down. The trial promises to be very

The Kokomo Postoffice.

KOKOMO, May 21 .- [Special.]-The postofice wrangle in this city is still as bitter as ever. The charge of double dealing is freely made against several prominent men, by the friends of Garrigus, and in addition to the charges already made against him, another very serious case crept into light to-day which the anti-Garrigus people think will prove the doxology to all of his hopes. In a case in which Atty. Gan. Michener is complainent and Howard county the defendant, there has been found a very important change made in the papers of the case, also on the clerk's record. It is only the word "paid" which has been added to a sentence, but it alters the complexion of the whole case. The words are not in the handwriting of the deputy clerk, by whom the record was made, and the ink is not the same used. Garrigus is the attorney for Howard county, and the two attorneys for the plaintiff, of whom are republicans, have made affidavit that they believe the forgery was com-mitted by Garrigus. These affidavits have been sent, with other papers, to Washington City to help made up the record against Garrigus. It was believed that last Tuesday would settle the matter as to who was to be the new postmaster, but the fight goes on.

fully watched, and his relatives and friends are much alarmed. Much excitement prevails in some portions of this county over the preva-lence of what, from all indications, is hydro-phobia. One day last week a strange dog was seen coming from the barn of Louis Steward, near Canaan. The dog was killed, having shown signs of being mad, but not until after he had bitten several other animals. Since that time Steward has had to kill two fine calves, they having shown symptoms of hydro-phobia, and it is feared he will lose all the stock he has, as it was all exposed.

In Jefferson township the proposition was lost by a vote of 50. Cows Killed By Polson. MARTINSVILLE, June 3 .- [Special.]-This city has been considerably stirred up for some time as to whether the cow should be allowed to run at large. The question is now before the city council in all its phases. Some of the citizens have been herding their cows for an hour or two each day near the city limits, among whom were Mrs. Hensley, a poor widow, Jack Watson and Harvey Baker. This morning their cows were led out as usual and left in the grassy places for a little while. All were soon found to be violently ill, and died in a very few minutes after being discovered. Some contemptible person had sprinkled parisgreen on the grass, and they had come upon it unnoticed by their owners.

M'DONALD ON HARRISON.

POLICY OF NEPOTISM CONDEMNED.

Gen. Harrison Certain to be Beaten by the Man Nominated Against Him-The Nicaraugan Canal Scheme and Its Probably Successful Outcome.

[Daily Sentinel May 30.1 It will be remembered that during the late campaign the republican press tried to make great capital out of the fact that ex-Senator Mc-Donald indorsed Gen. Harrison as to his character. The fact that a man of such prominence should say anything in the least complimentary to the republican candidate was to the republican sheets of slander a remarkable thing. Senator McDonald, however, was merely speaking of Gen. Harrison's private character at the time, and now when he discovers weaknesses in the administration of the president he is equally as frank in expressing his opinion of them. A SENTINEL reporter yesterday asked him what he thought of the president's civil service policy, and his reply was given in one sentence, but it entirely comprehended the

"I have not," said he, "been paying very much attention to politics, but I have noticed one fact-that is, that this is a Harrison administration on the republican pattern; and while there may be a good deal of human nature in it, the fact that he is taking special care that his relatives and personal friends are brought to the front is not very popular; and the probabilities are it will result in his defeat if he is renomizated, whoever may be the opposing candidate to him." Senator McDonald is a member of the board of directors of the Nicarauga canal company, and has just returned from a meeting of the board held in New York City. Notwithstanding the wholesale discussion given this subject luring the last session of congress, there are a great many people who do not understand what the outcome of the matter was. Accordingly the reporter asked the senator for a brief history of the case as it now stands. present Nicarauga canal company," said he, was organized under a charter granted by the United States at the last session of congress, and is entirely a private enterprise. It was organized for the purpose of receiving concessions from the Nicaraugan and Costa Rican governments for the construction of an inter-oceanic canal upon the Nicarauga route that had been made to one association, and which had been transferred to the Nicarauga canal company, embracing surveys and preliminary work, which the association had already performed. The capital of the company, as fixed by the act of incorporation, was a hundred million dollars, with the privilege of increasing it to two hundred millions if found necessary, and the powers conferred were very liberal. It is emphatically an American company, and by the terms of the charter must remain under the control of American citizens.

The line of the canal as surveyed utilizes about one-half the length, or something more, of San Juan river, and while the distance from ocean to ocean is by the route 169 miles, there is less than forty miles of the canal to construct, and an elevation of only 110 feet to overcome. The first move of the enterprise was started last Saturday by sending out a propeller containing the necessary engineer corps and the foundation of a working force to begin such improvements at Gray Town harbor on the Atlantic as may be necessary to secure the proper landing, and the work will be pressed forward with all the vigor and energy that he enterprising men at its head can throw into it. Its financial system is yet to be developed, but with the certainty that the canal can be constructed plaintiff for $4,695. It was a suit to compel set | at less than $100,000,000 cost, and that as its construction and management are both in the hands of thoroughly reliable men, there is very little doubt that the necessary funds can be obtained. Chief Engineer Menacal, who is thoroughly familiar with the whole ground, is very confident that the canal will be completed inside of five years. The company expects to utilize the best part of the force and constructing power that has been set free by the failure of the Panama canal enterprise.

MURDERED IN AN ASYLUM. An Inmate Beaten to Death by Two Brutal

Attendants. ROCHESTER, Minn., June 1 .- A murder com mitted in the insane asylum here about April has just leaked out. The victim was a patient named Taylor Combs, who had been committed for rape on a five-year-old girl at Stillwater. Combs was washing the ceiling at the asylum and muttering what he would do if he had a revolver, when he was attacked by Edward Pe terson and August Beckman, who commenced ounding him over the head with a cane and a hickory mop-handle. Then they made him set up and Beckman commenced to pound him, knocking him down and jumping on his chest Combs died two hours afterward. The painter who saw the deed was told that if he disclosed the murder they (Beckman and Peterson) would kill him. The manager of the asylum called in which work it is expected to reclaim 20,000 the coroner, who made an examination. Beckneres of land in Allen, Whitley and Hunting-man and Peterson claimed that Combs' death was caused by falling from the scallold. When the facts came out the men were discharged, warrants were issued and Beckman was ar rested last night and Peterson's capture is expected soon. The grand jury will investigate the case Monday. The asylum authorities say that Combs was industrious and easily managed and it is declared that this death was nothing short of diabolical murder.

HOVEY BREAKS OUT AGAIN.

He Thinks He Wants the Statistician's Office Under His Control.

[Daily Sentinel of June 1.] The mighty hand of his Napoleonic majesty. Gov. A. P. Hovey, was again shown yesterday when he appointed and commissioned Capt. John Worrell of Clayton, Hendricks county, as chief of the bureau of statistics, that office being already occupied by W. A. Peelle, who was elected by the legislature. It is only another of the high-handed proceedings that have recently emanated from the executive officer who is trying to assert an imperial authority over all he surveys. Twice now the governor has received a set-back from the supreme court, that body overroling his appointments but he nervily goes ahead in his bull-header The decision in the Carson case was not sufficient for the great preserver (?) of the constitution, but he had to take another black eve when the Riley case was handed down. The law in this case, he says, was not, in his opinion, properly interpreted by the indicial authority, and he has notified the public that he will ask for a rehearing. Not waiting until the attorney-general finds time to file his bill of exceptions he goes to work and appoints a state statistician. The contest for the state geologist's office between Collett and Gorby is also still hanging hre, and the ruling question is, why did not Hovey wait until the decision in that matter had been handed down? No: Hovey has the the tenacity and stubborness of a buil pur and does not propose to give up until each and every appointment has been settled by the courts. Mr. Peelle, who has held the office of state statistician for a number of years, is a most capable and efficient officer. He has few equals in the state in this particular branch of work, and his service in the office has never met with a criticism

When asked yesterday what he thought of the governor's action, Mr. Peelle said: "I am the legally elected chief of the bureau of statistics and of course will not recognize any one who claims to hold a commission for such office, as I fully believe it not to be a legal one. The legislature elected me to this position, and according to the law enacted by it, I have taken the proper outh and received the proper

Capt. Worrell when he was sworn in by Supreme Court Clerk Noble, said that he would make an immediate demand for the office from Mr. Peelle, but up to 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, he had taken no action in the matter, When he does make the demand it will of course be refused, and he will have no other recourse than to bring que warrante proceedings against Mr. Peelle.
